PROFILE: Multidisciplinary professional with 20+ years of leadership across the performing arts, sustainable real estate sales & development, publishing, and education. A seasoned performer and creative collaborator (Broadway, Las Vegas residencies, national tours), I bring a lifelong commitment to storytelling, emotional intelligence, and artistic excellence. Concurrently, I have led high-impact business initiatives throughout North America, developing net-zero housing communities, training over 500 real estate professionals, and establishing high-performance sales centers. I specialize in bridging vision with compassionate execution. Whether guiding creative teams, authoring bestselling books, or delivering housing solutions that prioritize dignity and care, I lead with integrity, creativity, and deep respect for place and people. Now seeking meaningful collaboration and employment that integrates art, housing, sustainability, and community resilience.
